NOVEMBER WEDDINGS.

Briggs-Barker
A pretty fall wedding took place on Wednesday forenoon at 11 o'clock at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Robert J. Bruce on Winter street, when John C. Briggs and Estelle W. Barker, both of Gardiner, were united in marriage, the double ring service being used. The bride was becomingly gowned in a traveling suit of blue broadcloth with fur trimmings and carried a bouquet of white bride's roses. Following the ceremony a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Bruce.

Mr. Briggs formerly resided in Norway and worked as clerk at the Smiley store for a short time, when he went into the supply office of B. F. Spinyer & Co., where he worked until the company went out of business. In the fall of 1913 he went to Gardiner to work for the R. P. Hazard Shoe Co., where he has a fine position as manager of the supply department. Mr. Briggs is a member of the Norway Congregational church, a member of Oxford Lodge, F. and A. M. and of the Chapter and Council at Gardiner.

Mrs. Briggs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Barker of Gardiner. She formerly resided at Phillips and graduated from the Phillips High School in the class of 1910, where she won a series of honor cups in the Interscholastic speaking contest.

Since graduating she worked in several offices until 1914, when she took a course at a business college in Portland and since graduating has been employed as stenographer at the Evening Express office at Portland. Mrs. Briggs has a fine contralto voice and has been singing at the Methodist church in Portland and is now singing at the Universalist church at Gardiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs have a large circle of friends here and in Gardiner who join in extending their best wishes.

Noyes-Richardson
On Wednesday afternoon at 1:30, a very pretty wedding ceremony was performed at the Congregational church, when Frank Willard Noyes and Annie Hancock were united in matrimony.

Mrs. Noyes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark B. Richardson, well known residents of Norway. She was born and has always lived in Norway, attending public school in Norway, attending public school here and graduating from the Norway High School in the class of 1900.

The bride wore a gown of blue silk with lace trimmings and carried bride's roses. The single ring service was used.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes will spend their honeymoon in Mechanic Falls after which they will reside at Norway Center.

Huntton-Bradbury
The nuptial knot was tied between Charles Edward Huntton and Mildred Bradbury, both of Norway, at the Methodist parsonage Wednesday morning, November 8, 1916; the officiating clergyman being Rev. H. L. Nichols. The single ring service was used, the couple being unattended.

Mrs. Huntton is the daughter of Mrs. Christine Bradbury, and has made her home with U. S. G. Abbott's family on Pike Hill for a number of years, and employed with the Warner Paper Box Co. during the school vacation.

The groom is the son of Turner C. and Mary A. Huntton late of Lewiston, and came here from Brunswick, as machinist for the Norway Knitting Company, conducted by his brother, T. C. Huntton.

Every effort was made by the contracting parties to keep the day and hour of their wedding secret, but the news leaked out and the couple were given a send off at the Norway station, with the usual amount of rice and good wishes. They started for Lewiston and other points on a short trip, after which they will reside here in town.

In Quest of Big Game
Ben Bicknell went hunting for big game Wednesday. Ben heard of a big she-bear and cub that were roaming over the northern part of the town, so decided to make a valuable capture. With this in mind he invested some good money in high top boots, filled up the Maxwell gas tank, procured plenty of stout ammunition and cranked up. He drove to a spot above Richardson Hollow, then started in.

Apparently the bear was wise to Ben, so remained out of sight, for the hunter "beat the bush" with energy, but came back with only a lone partridge. He started out again Thursday.

Even the children have contracted the election spirit and are taking sides with their elders. A group of small suffragettes, probably twelve years old, were just from school Wednesday afternoon, and gathered on the street corner. One was reading the latest returns from a paper, while the remainder loudly discussed the situation. Apparently the two leading political parties were evenly represented, the argument waxed hot and there was more or less pushing, possibly hair pulling, as the scribe vanished before the knockout game.

Ceylon Rowe of Bethel called on us Wednesday. With the aid of canoe he gets about nicely. He was accompanied by his son, Bert Rowe and wife, and grandson. Dinner was had at Beal's Tavern and return made to Bethel by the way of Harrison and the Waterfalls.

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Mundy came into the office Tuesday morning all excited, and wanted correct election returns so as to settle a family wager. At that hour the general report gave Mr. Hughes the benefit of the doubt and Mrs. Mundy was all smiles, while Talbot appeared somewhat dejected. One could easily guess how the bet was arranged. With all our knowledge we were unable to offer a satisfactory reply and they passed out in great consolation in Ralph Harrison's straw vote results in Stone's win-down.

Electoral vote necessary for a choice 268—Thursday morning, a Boston paper gave Wilson 251, Hughes 243, doubtful 37. Another makes the "known and the doubtful" 277 for Hughes, 254 for Wilson. Portland papers say 232 for Wilson, 239 for Hughes, 60 doubtful. Lewiston, 239 Hughes, 240 Wilson, 52 doubtful. Augusta 246 Wilson, 248 Hughes, 37 doubtful.

Thursday morning: Results of election in doubt with Hughes a probable winner.

Intelligence of Norway Voters
Last Tuesday Norway cast 766 votes and out of that number only four asked assistance in marking their ballot.

Three on account of age and impaired eyesight were Amos French, 88; James Crockett, 87 and Albert S. Newhall, 66 and one unable to read. They were assisted.

There were 3 blank ballots and 4 defective. One caused by the voter putting his initials "C. H. P." on it.

This speaks well of the intelligence of the Norway voter.

Officers Installed
A Stated Convocation of Oxford R. A. Mason No. 29, F. and A. M. was held in Masons Hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 8, M. E. Albert M. Penley, of Auburn, Past Grand High Priest, was present and installed the following officers:

H. P. Lee, M. Smith.
K. Ray H. Eastman.
S. P. Harvey, E. Powers.
T. Everett F. Bicknell.
Sec. - Charles F. Ridlon.
C. C. - Fred E. Smith.
P. S. - John W. Lassalle.
A. Q. - Winfield S. Cordwell.
R. W. - Arthur W. Bunker.
M. 2 V. - Arthur V. Barker.
M. 3 V. - Percival E. Hathaway.
Chap. - Lewis L. Gilbert.
S. S. - Ernest E. Record.
J. S. - Harry W. Kimball.

After the installation, P. M. and M. E. M. work was in order. Refreshments followed.

Mrs. H. B. Young returned from a week's visit in Boston, Wednesday. She visited Mrs. Hugh Kennedy, Mrs. Ella Benfield and Ruth Cummings, also old friends at South Braintree, Mass.

Candidates for Norway Postmaster
Lot of candidates for the Norway post office by Hughes wins. Among those anxious to serve:

Capt. J. W. Nash, Herman L. Horne, Philip F. Stone, Elmer D. Packard, Lester V. Ashton, Walter L. Hutchins, Geo. W. Holmes, Simon Harrison, Charles P. Ridlon, William C. Leavitt, William A. Bicknell, George W. Devine and others no doubt are willing to draw the salary and occupy the postmaster's private room in the P. O. Block now being built.

Some of these are said to have circulated petition for weeks past and others have talked it among their friends to put them wise to the wishes.

It's an excellent field to select from and a good postmaster can be had if the present incumbent fails to be continued in office by a change in the administration.

Jolly Party at the Kingsfisher.
A jolly party of twenty young people went to Terkine's cottage, "The Kingsfisher," Wednesday evening for a regular good old fashioned gathering.

A supper fit for a king was served which included salads, sandwiches, cakes, olives, doughnuts, cheese and coffee. An old time molasses candy pull followed and the fun was at high water mark.

Games finished the evening program, after which came the delightful walk home in the moonlight.

Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Packard, Marion Gibson, Louise Sheldon, Marion Andrews, Eula Bicknell, Louise Seavey, Marion True, Ava Andrews, Mildred Noyes, Eugene Nash, Edges Dunn, Otis Jones, Hugh Pendexter, Jr., Leslie Gibson, Jesse Farnham, Roland Nevers, Paul Hosmer, Clyde Lapham and Francis Carroll.

Special Town Meeting
A special town meeting was held in the Opera House, Saturday afternoon with George L. Curtis presiding. Judge William F. Jones read the contract which was drawn up by the road committee and the Oxford Electric Co., and it was voted to instruct the selectmen to accept the same. As the State Commission had previously requested the towns to forward their highway mileage to headquarters, action was taken at this time and a vote passed to comply with the request. This completed the business of the meeting and an adjournment followed.

V. W. Hills, the jeweler, is presenting to each "new arrival in town" a gold band ring, delivered in a neat little box with a card on which is "Baby's first Ring, etc."

Norway Lodge No. 16, I. O. O. F. have received an invitation from Mt. Mead Lodge of South Paris to visit them Thursday evening, Nov. 9th, and witness the working of the first degree. All members plan to attend.

SOUTH PARIS

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Oliver entertained three tables at Rook Wednesday evening. The following guests were present, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Barrows, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson, Bertha Wight, Nora Dunham, Ruth Bolster, Mont Bolster, Merton Clifford, Harold Neal. Refreshments were served and a most delightful evening spent.

Eva Walker gave a party Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. R. B. Cole, who will leave this week Friday, for her home in Canton, Mass. Guests present were, Mrs. Harriet Barnes, Mrs. Florence Haskell, Mrs. D. M. Stewart, Mrs. Stanley Wheeler, Mrs. R. E. Cole, Mrs. H. E. Wilson. A very pleasant evening was spent in games.

Mrs. H. E. Wilson is playing the organ at the Congregational church in Norway, while Mrs. H. L. Home is on her vacation.

George Burnham has been confined to the house for ten days with a sprained ankle.

The Fan Tan Club met Tuesday afternoon for sewing. A good number were present and at six o'clock chaffing dish refreshments were served and the evening was spent in Rook and Whist.

Leo L. Russell has a neat flock of thirty-two R. L. Reds that attract attention. They are evenly colored, good shape and well developed for June birds. The pullets will be laying early in December.

All was excitement throughout election day and well into the night. Both party representatives cheered continually as the returns poured in. The Savoy was open until nearly 12 o'clock and many crowded in to catch the latest news from the front. Early in the forenoon one or two post office aspirants had their scrolls out on the street, but these disappeared about noon time when the result was not so encouraging.

The annual fall supper at the Universalist vestry Tuesday was a success and largely attended. A supper of chicken pie, mashed potatoes, hot rolls, cranberry sauce, whipped cream pies, assorted cakes and coffee was served to more than one hundred, followed by a reception to Mrs. Agnes L. Morton, who has been the church organist for the past fifteen years.

In the vestry line were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Morton, Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Young. Speeches were made and a general social time followed.

Hon. Alton C. Wheeler has been on a campaigning tour through North Carolina and Virginia. He returned Monday in season to vote.

Mrs. Scott Marston and her mother, Mrs. Winnifred Penley, have been visiting relatives in town during the past week.

The concrete foundation for A. W. Walker's house is all set, and the carpenters have the sills laid. The frame will be well along before the end of the week.

Business is good at the Oxford Creamery, yet a drop may occur later, owing to the high mark on the grain cost. One day last week they shipped five tons of milk and cream, but is not an average, but the daily output is large.

The farmer receives about forty cents per pound for his butter, represented by the Babcock test—the highest price known. Twenty-three years ago twenty-two cents was considered a good price, as gauged by the market standards of the period.

Members of the Western Maine Poultry Association held a business meeting in the Creamery Monday, and made arrangements for their show which is set for January 2-3-4, 1917 in the Grange Hall, South Paris. A committee composed of C. Guy Buck, Harry Lovejoy, and Frank Taylor was chosen to arrange a premium list. The score card system was discussed and it was decided to abolish it, and return to the former comparison method. Herbert M. Tucker of Canton and George Coffin of Freeport will judge the birds.

Robert R. Crotter who works for the Oxford Electric Co. as lineman, owns a Thomas cat twenty-two years old next May. This old settler is of an unknown breed, but active and a good mouser. He weighs eight pounds and is fat for his years. During the past eight years he has lived along without any teeth, with no visible means of getting any new ones. So the women folks just mash, grind or soak his food to suit the occasion and the feline lives on. The old chap has been in the family since kittenhood, except at one time he was given to James Pledge of Norway. He took French leave from this new home and dropped out of sight for five months, when one bright day in winter, the runaway came to the door of his former master and has since remained.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will have a night hike to the Talbot Farm on Forest Street Friday evening, Nov. 10th. They plan to leave the Square at seven o'clock.

OTISFIELD

Golden Wedding

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wyette T. Edwards was celebrated at their pleasant home at Spur's Corner, Otisfield, Saturday evening, Nov. 4. The occasion was planned and most successfully carried out by their only daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Davis, who occupies the same home with her parents.

Mrs. Edwards was formerly Abbie Reed, daughter of Hanover. Mr. Edwards is a native of Otisfield, in which town the happy couple have resided for the past 50 years. About two years ago they had the misfortune to lose by fire the home which they had occupied for several years, and since that time have made their home with their daughter, Mrs. Davis. Mr. Edwards is a well-to-do farmer and owns considerable property in his home town. He is a member of the K. of P. order in the town of Windham, and also a member of the G. A. R., having been one of three brothers, namely, the late Silas B. Edwards, of South Windham, and Mr. Robinson G. Edwards of Topsham, who served in the Civil War.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards were married in Mechanic Falls, a town where they first met in early life. They have had born to them four children, of which only one, Mrs. Davis is living. The home owned and occupied by the honored couple is one of rare attractiveness, a large house of Colonial style. The entire house was thrown open on the golden event, and the guests present most happily entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards occupied a prominent seating in the front parlor, and the evening costume of the happy couple blended with the cheerful countenance of each.

Mrs. Davis was assisted by Edna Robinson and Mrs. Maggie Edwards in receiving and presenting the friends. The conventional guest book was in charge of Mrs. Euleta Newcomb of Westbrook. A most enjoyable program was also presented. A cornet solo by Mr. Edwards, Mrs. Gertrude Barrows, organist, Mrs. Catherine Scribner, violinist, Mrs. Helen Mitchell, vocal soloist, and Mrs. Euleta Newcomb as reader. Rev. Joseph Harrison, pastor of the Otisfield Congregational church, was present and gave a most interesting talk.

The wedding anniversary poem and early reminiscences was written and read by Mrs. Newcomb.

Delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Davis was assisted by Miss Robinson and Mrs. Nutting in serving. Many friends who were unable to attend sent letters of congratulations.

NORTH BRIDGTON

Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Luther S. Monk.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther S. Monk celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Oct. 19, in the church at North Bridgton. A gathering of neighbors and friends, more than one hundred being present. There were friends present from Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. After a sumptuous repast, presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Howard and Mrs. Cora Stuart, a renewal of the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. N. Davis, pastor of the church. The bride and groom, attended by their two sons and wives, Fred M. Monk of North Bridgton, standing under an arch of green and gold, on which was suspended the dates 1866-1916. Following congratulations a pleasing program was rendered, consisting of:

Music.....Dudley's orchestra
Readings.....Mrs. Alice Freelove, Mrs. Raymond of Westbrook, Mrs. George M. M. Original poem.....Mrs. F. O. Chadbourne

Upon urgent request, the bride gave a very funny selection, there was also an original poem given during the dinner, written by Anna Head of Hartland, for the occasion, and read by Mrs. Fred Scribner of Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Monk, have resided in North Bridgton about 40 years and they were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, among which was a plate of gold coin amounting to fifty-eight dollars, contributed by friends of the village and presented by the pastor.

Written in honor of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Luther S. Monk of North Bridgton.

(By Mrs. Frank O. Chadbourne)

Fond memory sits enthroned today
And over all hearts holds sway
While she weaves for our friends a golden chain

From the scenes of far away
Prized more than jewels rare,
But dearer still are memory's gifts;
Their worth beyond compare.

We count the links in the chain she weaves,
As the Rosary beads are told;
Each has for them some treasure dear,
Which safe in their hearts they hold.

Some links may be gleamed by sorrow's tears,
And some by the rust of care;
Yet underneath is purest gold,
Undimmed in its beauty rare.

The story old as Eden's powers,
As was whispered once again
In the listening ear of a Hampshire maid,
By a youth from the hills of Maine.

'Twas the year of eighteen sixty-six,
When the golden love's shining track
In the "City of many spindles,"
On the banks of the Merrimack.

Now the maid who heard that story
Has been christened "Alice Head,"
While the youth was known as Luther Monk
And soon the bonds were read.

For Luther said to Alice,
'Come, let us two be wed,
I'll give you my hand and heart,
If you will be my "Head."

Thus the first fair link of that shining chain,
Which you see and vision clear,
Taken on the shape of a wedding ring,
Emblem of love sincere.

Then following this without a break,
With the gun has to go a longer distance
From the haunts of men. He finds wild animals constantly depleted.

While wild game is decreasing in quantity, the number of men out for sport increases. States that maintain a system of hunters' licenses report an astonishing number of applications. In some places it seems as if nearly every able bodied man had registered for these permits.

In popular hunting resorts it is getting about as dangerous for the hunters as for their prey.

And the trouble is not merely that there are more hunters for less game. In luxurious cities there is an unlimited market for birds, venison, and other tit-bits. This creates a class of market hunters. This includes many irresponsible and semivagrants who pay no attention to game laws.

In land near sizable towns the spread of the No Trespass sign has removed much of the joy of the woods. Owners of timber land are getting tired of seeing valuable trees burned up by fires set by careless campers. It is very nice to be liberal to the public. But to many men, standing timber is their principal capital. A single match can consume it all, and there is no use taking these chances.

There is a growing sentiment in favor of suppressing the shooting of birds and other game for the markets. Every bit of the wild life now left is needed for other purposes. It is the property of the whole community, and should not be shot and sold as a matter of business. It should be kept as a source of the pleasure and recreation of genuine sports.

Paid $35,000 for Bull

An event of great interest and importance to the Holstein-Friesian breeding industry took place Sept. 14, when the Fred F. Field Holstein company of Brockton, Mass., purchased of Mrs. Franc A. Smith of Brainardhurst, Alexander, N. Y., the 4-year-old bull, King Segis Pontiac Konigen 97988, paying $35,000 therefor.

The price paid—$35,000—was the largest sum, but these figures are declared absolutely bona fide by the parties concerned in the transaction. Mrs. Smith considers the bull a peerless animal and sells him to give him the opportunity demanded by his great breeding; and Mr. Field bought him to breed to the daughter of Dutchland Creamelle Korndyke Lad, whom he considers quite as good a bull as the one just purchased.

He believes that by bringing these two great families together he is uniting the greatest producing families of the breed for both milk and butter, in the yearly and short time tests.

Auto Receipts

The total receipts from automobile registrations and licenses from Jan. 1 of the present year up to noon, Oct. 14, is $362,354.65, against $271,987 for the entire year 1915, according to figures given by Harold P. Davis of Waterville, chief clerk of the automobile registration bureau of the department of state.

Total registrations and licenses from Jan. 1 are: Registrations, 28,332; licenses, 34,355; dealers, 311; trucks, 1963; motorcycle dealers, 32; motorcycles, 1271. Total registrations for the entire year 1915 were: Registrations, 21,874; licenses, 25,658; dealers, 324; trucks, 1098; motorcycle dealers, 85; motorcycles, 950.

Lazy Men Take Notice

Many a state would be fortunate if the lazy husband legislation was in force, as it is in California. A man in that state, who does not support his family can be put to hard labor by the county at $1.50 a day and the money he earns turned over to his dependents. The first offender was sentenced to two years on the county roads.

The Hunting Season

Hunting is not the easy and accessible thing it used to be. Every year the man with the gun has to go a longer distance from the haunts of men. He finds wild animals constantly depleted.

While wild game is decreasing in quantity, the number of men out for sport increases. States that maintain a system of hunters' licenses report an astonishing number of applications. In some places it seems as if nearly every able bodied man had registered for these permits.

In popular hunting resorts it is getting about as dangerous for the hunters as for their prey.

And the trouble is not merely that there are more hunters for less game. In luxurious cities there is an unlimited market for birds, venison, and other tit-bits. This creates a class of market hunters. This includes many irresponsible and semivagrants who pay no attention to game laws.

In land near sizable towns the spread of the No Trespass sign has removed much of the joy of the woods. Owners of timber land are getting tired of seeing valuable trees burned up by fires set by careless campers. It is very nice to be liberal to the public. But to many men, standing timber is their principal capital. A single match can consume it all, and there is no use taking these chances.

Dental Preparedness

What is the most important attribute of a soldier? Good feet? No. Good eyesight? No. Good brains? No. What then? Good teeth.

A soldier may have good feet, good eyesight, and good brains but if he has bad teeth, he can't eat. If he can't eat he can't march near enough to the enemy to see him and use his brains to fight him.

How does a soldier get good teeth? By having good teeth in childhood.

How do children keep good teeth? Through being taught by their mother how to keep their teeth clean and having their teeth looked after while they are growing. This makes good teeth for future soldiers.

It would seem then as though the first patriotic duty of a mother was to keep her children's teeth in good condition. It is.

The Over-Wise Committee Man

An old story, but one which is good enough to keep going, as it well illustrates the tendency of some people who think that the modern child is not as the wide awake and intelligent as was the child of fifty years ago, is told in the present issue of Harper's Magazine.

The visiting member of the school board was listening to a recitation by a class when he remarked, "The children of today are not as quick to notice things as they were years ago." The teacher replied that she had not noticed it. "I will prove it to you," said the committeeman.

Turning to the class he asked, "Will some one give me a number?"

"Thirty-seven," said a little girl.

Taking a chalk the committeeman wrote on the board, 73, and nothing was said. Calling for another number fifty-seven was given. He wrote this down as 75, and nothing was said. With a superior smile to the teacher, he asked for a third number, when he was almost taken off his feet with the contempt and energy expressed by a red headed youngster who shouted, "Seventy-seven, you sucker, see if you can change that."

A WISE SELECTION

It is highly improbable that any physician could be found who would deny there is a great big legitimate field wherein a good liniment proves a welcome and powerful ally. When need arises, therefore, it is only a question of wise selection on the part of the purchaser. If he obtains a liniment that can be used internally for coughs, colds, sore throat, cramps, chills, etc., and externally for sprains, strains, muscular rheumatism, various aches, pains and almost any soreness, he is twice fortified against many of the common ailments that all flesh is heir to. For over 100 years Johnson's Anodyne Liniment has proved to be just such a double value liniment. This prescription of Dr. Abner Johnson's, an erstwhile old family physician, has attained its enviable record of more than a century of success purely on its wonderful merit. As a tribute to its remarkable healing, soothing and penetrating qualities thousands of grateful users speak of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment as "an angel in disguise."—adv.

MOTHER'S REMEDY FOR BRUISES

Children's Bumps, Sprains and Minor Hurts Quickly Relieved by Sloan's Liniment

It is the very nature of children to hurt themselves. One crying to mother with little fingers bruised with heads bumped, with sprained ankles and wrists.

They are painful hurts, too. But their pain and sting can't survive the gentle use of this Liniment. A single application of Sloan's Liniment and the little fellow's bravely kept back tears give way to smiles. His hurt is relieved.

In every home where there are children a bottle of Sloan's Liniment is a necessity.

Aching muscles, rheumatism, lumbago, stiff neck, backache, chilblains, etc., can be effectively relieved with Sloan's Liniment. Clearer than musky ointments or plasters.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

Don't Neglect Wounds

Do not neglect even the little cuts or scratches. Blood-poisoning with dangerous results may follow if wounds are not properly and promptly given attention. For wounds, cuts, sores or bruises apply at once a little Minard's Liniment, obtained at any drug store. It is absolutely pure, wonderfully antiseptic and works wonders in its healing influence. Its use promotes circulation and restores vitality to injured or wounded parts and causes rapid healing. It is entirely stainless, easy to use and very economical.

A Farmer's Wife

Is many times obliged to act as nurse and doctor to some member of the family. And she usually knows what to do when the husband complains of feeling poorly, or the children are out of sorts. She believes in simple remedies, and knows that their timely use usually keeps away anything serious. Many a farmer's wife has learned to have perfect confidence in "L. F." Atwood's Medicine. She finds it good when a stomach needs strengthening, a liver regulating, or a severe headache must be relieved. This time-tried and reliable remedy does men, women and children a world of good for it keeps the system in order and has a tonic effect on overworked stomachs, livers and nerves.

Simon Grover Remembers Well the Tragedy.

The Wild River tragedy poem published in the Advertiser October 26th, brings to the mind of Simon Grover, of Norway several interesting facts not previously mentioned in the newspaper comments at various times.

The tragedy so vividly portrayed in the above mentioned verses occurred on the morning of June 11, 1851, in a weather-beaten house, located near Wild River on the country road from Gilead to Shelburne, N. H. Sixty-five years have intervened and the buildings are no more, yet that spot is pointed out to visitors and the memory of the crime will be handed down for generations.

It is but a human story. Not one peculiar to a certain age, but an incident distressingly common at this period. Charles Freeman, a laborer, his wife and three children were occupying the farm when Samuel Worthly, a wealthy New Englander, arrived in the neighborhood. He was something of a charmer. Aided by good clothes and city experience, he apparently made a hit with this country bred woman.

The outcome of it all was, that through intense jealousy Freeman killed his wife with a shot gun after which he committed suicide with a razor in the Larry woods, but a few rods from his former happy home. To within a few years a sign marked this spot, which read, "Wild River Tragedy Grove."

Simon lived in Bethel and was seven years old when the startling event happened. He remembers distinctly hearing all facts rehearsed in the village store during the evening of the fatal day. It made a deep impression upon the Community at the time, being the chief topic of conversation about the fireside without regard to "young ears."

Mr. Grover's mother's maiden name was Judith Seavey, and before her marriage she worked in the Freeman family, so was intimately acquainted with the unfortunate persons concerned.

Simon states that in the course of a few years the son, Charles Freeman, Jr., opened a barber shop at Bethel Hill. He was a born musician and could play any instrument. About this time, Charles Oakes composed words to the tune "Three Friends," and named the composition "Wild River Tragedy."

The son endeavored to keep this gruesome tale from the public, so bought and destroyed every copy obtainable.

When the call was given in '61 for volunteers, Freeman enlisted with Mr. Grover in Company A 12th Maine. After the war he entered the regular service and disappeared.

Four Prominent Teachers

Editor Norway (Oxford Co.) Advertiser: I read with much interest the lecture of Prof. Hering in your issue of Oct. 6, on Christian Science. Although it is the same that I have studied over and over again during the past twenty-five years, it is always new and it recaptures my memory. I have read most of the writings of Mrs. Eddy and of many others on the same subject. I have also studied Mental Science.

During the past fifty years we have had four prominent religious teachers, viz., Andrew Jackson Davis, spiritualist; Mrs. Mary B. G. Eddy, Christian Scientist; Frank W. Sandford, Evangelist and Prophet, Elijah 2d, and Rev. Wm. A. Sunday, the world's greatest evangelist.

Of Mental Science teachers we have several, including Prof. Upham, Mrs. Helen Wilman and others.

Davis relied principally upon spirit communication for his remedies and in many cases they were successful. He was a good writer and his first book, "The Magic Staff," contains much interesting matter and sound sense. He afterward wrote a series of volumes called "The Great Harmonia."

He was the pioneer of modern Spiritualism. He subsequently graduated from the Medical College at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Mrs. Eddy was a woman of good sense who was kind hearted, honest, and unselfish to the last degree. She was acquainted with trouble, grief and poverty, but she overcame them all. She has done for the world a great work. Her ideas were based on the teachings of the Bible and will stand the test of time, but the majority of people are too undeveloped and too worldly minded to understand her.

She was opposed to Spiritualism, while Mrs. Wilman, one of the foremost exponents of Mental Science, favored it.

Frank W. Sandford was an earnest worker, but everything seemed to be on the extreme order. He put forth some good schemes, but for poor ones. He set out to evangelize the world at once, single handed. He was hasty and not headed. He gained followers very fast and got gifts from trustful but misguided and deluded followers. His last blunder was in starting from the Holy Land (Palestine) in his vessel and crew without provisions sufficient for the journey, trusting in God to supply him on the way. The result was that six of his crew died of starvation. He supposed he was imitating faithful Abraham, but it looked as if he was imitating the five foolish virgins that went to meet the bridegroom who no oil in their lamps. He was tried on six counts before the U. S. Court and sentenced to twelve years imprisonment in the Federal Prison in Georgia.

The Judge who sentenced him was Hon. Clarence Hale of Portland, a school mate, intimate friend, and "chum" of mine at the Norway Liberal Institute in the spring of 1865.

One Saturday we were going on a visit to my uncle's beyond Paris Hill to stay over Sunday and when near the water trough we met a young man on horseback who told us of the assassination of Lincoln the night before. Mr. Hale wrote me years ago that he put forth his ideas with force and emphasis. He tramples upon lawyers, doctors, and ministers among all classes of sinners. It might be said of him as it was of Elder Hooper, the first settled minister of this town, (plow) "He is God's breaking up plow."

He is Frederick's minister. I do not know that he makes any attempt at healing. He is opposed to Christian Science.

Dr. Charles Cullis of Boston was a successful healer in his time, thirty-five or forty years ago, as I know from experience. We have to take the world as it is, not as we think it ought to be. If one would become fitted to deal successfully with the great problems of life, he must treasure up all the best things of his own experience and that of others.—W. W. Maxim, South Paris.

Tell Why Bread is High

Asked why the bakers in some sections had raised the price of bread, L. M. Scott of St. Johnsbury, retiring president of the Tri-State association, said it was because every commodity except flour had increased. He said flour had risen 75c. over $5.50 and $5.50 now cost $6 and upwards. Condensed milk also costs more and many bakers use this in making their products. The price of lard has increased alarmingly and almost everything that is used has gone up, therefore it is necessary to raise the price of the loaf.

The wheat crop, he said, would be short next year and he saw nothing within 10 months to indicate a drop in prices.

Asked why bread and other food products had not been generally raised to the same extent, he said because bakers hadn't gotten to the bottom of the matter. They had been told by the government that if one man raised his price the others would under him and he was forced to drop.

That held among the smaller bakers, the larger ones could raise their product and sell it without trouble. He said in his own business he had raised the price of the 10-cent loaf to 12 cents and he did not sell a five cent loaf.

IMPROVE FARM BUTTER

The adoption of more careful methods of handling milk and cream and improved practices in the making of farm butter will reduce rather than increase the trouble incident to home production of this food, say dairy specialists of the department, and will result in a superior product which can be sold more easily and for a better price than the average farm butter. Last year about 30,000,000 pounds of butter, much of which originated on the farm, was washed or renovated because it was of such poor quality that it could not be profitably offered on the regular butter markets.

Cream alone should be churned. It may be skimmed as soon as it rises or may be separated by a mechanical separator. The latter plan is the more efficient, and though requiring a considerable initial outlay offer will be profitable. The cream should be set aside in a clean place by separate milkings.

A temperature of 50 degrees F. or lower should be maintained until from 12 to 18 hours before churning time, when the various batches should be stirred together and brought to a temperature of about 70 degrees F. by placing the container in a bucket of warm water. One of the first acts of the farm housewife who decides to adopt improved methods should be to purchase a dairy thermometer. Temperatures play an important part in the development of flavors in butter and always should be determined with fair accuracy. After the cream is mixed it should be kept at approximately 70 degrees F. until just before churning time, when it should be reduced to about 58 degrees F., where this is possible (or to such temperature not above 65 degrees F. as to complete the operation of churning within 25 or 30 minutes).

The barrel type has been found by dairy specialists to be one of the most satisfactory churns. The dasher or plunger type requires a somewhat greater expenditure of labor. Earthenware churns are especially undesirable unless perfectly glazed, since if pores are exposed they absorb milk and cream which later decay. Churns with mechanical devices inside them are difficult to clean and sometimes injure the body of the butter.

The churn should be sealed preparatory to churning, but should be cooled with water before the cream is placed inside. The cream should be poured in through a coarse strainer. Every few minutes during the early part of the churning gas should be allowed to escape from the churn. If the temperature is right the churning should require about 25 or 30 minutes. The process is completed when the granules of the butter are about the size of large wheat kernels. The buttermilk should then be drained off and the butter manually pressed washed with cold water while still in the churn. The washings should be continued until all milk is removed. Under no circumstances should working be depended on to remove surplus milk.

When the butter is free from all milk it should be taken from the churn with a paddle and placed on a worker. The hands should never touch the butter, both on account of sanitary reasons and because the body warmth may melt the fat. The working should be done carefully to avoid making the butter greasy. Before the butter is worked, fine salt should be added at the rate of about an ounce per pound of fat.

The butter should be prepared for market in a rectangular mold, since, when in this shape, the product is more easily wrapped and handled and is more pleasing to the customer. Regular parchment butter-wrapping paper should be used around the prints, as ordinary waxed paper tears easily and sticks to the butter. The placing of the wrapped prints in pasteboard boxes is a desirable final step, as it protects the package and gives it a better appearance, and permits the use of the maker's name or trademark as an advertisement.

After the butter-making operations are completed the churn should be rinsed carefully with warm water. It should then be scrubbed with hot water, cleansing powder, and a fiber brush, and finally should be sealed and set in a clean, sunny place to drain and dry.

Can't the Boys Help More?

Some business and professional men have wondered why the schools are not begun two or three weeks later in the autumn, so as to give the larger boys, and even the girls too, a chance to help in the potato harvest. This would seem to be a good thing to do, as when a boy can earn from $2.00 to $5.00 a day, he ought to be willing perhaps to go to a little inconvenience and extra exertion.

Many have also been asking why it would not be a good plan for boys going to college to go to two or three weeks later than usual, to give themselves or their fathers the great advantage of those two or three weeks at work in the potato fields. Education in books is certainly a good thing, but it costs much money, and money is very valuable to most people, hence it seems that if the young men themselves who of course use up so much money at college, ought to be willing to try hard once in a while to earn a little themselves, and they can earn no little in the same time than during the harvest season.

Good-by Dollar

Every dollar you send out of town flies away with a value that rightfully belongs to your community. Spend it at home, with your home merchant, where its value stays with you and helps to build up your interests. When you come to think of it, there are only two kinds of dollars—the "Dollar with Wings" and the "Development Dollar." The "Dollar with Wings" goes to build up the far distant city, the Big Metropolitan and poverty. The "Development Dollar" goes to build up the Home Town. It helps build up a nation of real men and women. Then, let us make the dollars we spend "Development Dollars," home-town-builders, building for us and our neighbors and our children, making our community more prosperous, more happy, more contented.—Kennebec Journal.

Gurnsey Cow Sold for $6,150

The cow that jumped over the moon did not achieve the heights of fame among dairy farmers as gained by Langwater Dairymaid, a Gurnsey purebred blood. She is the highest priced gurnsey cow in the world, having sold at auction, under the bidding of gentlemen farmers from many parts of the country, for $6,150. Charles L. A. Whittemore, N. Y., was the buyer; P. Lathrop Ames of Northeaston, Mass., the former owner.

Norway Boys Talking Up a Band
Last week we tried to impress upon the minds of the "red bloods" the need of a basket ball team to liven up the long winter evenings, and give the local sporting element a chance to let out some of their excess baggage.

In this issue we want to attack the "live town" problem from another angle and offer to the "blue bloods" a hint that should appeal to all interested in a milder form of amusement. Why not organize a band? Many have seriously discussed the situation with the intention of doing something "real" if there is sufficient interest among our musicians to warrant definite action. We have talent, instruments and men with musical knowledge, fitted by the leadership of an organization of this kind.

Financial problems continually envelop a band, often to the extent of smothering its efficiency, so from this point the real discussion must start. Every band man who has followed the game long, realizes the money situation as an outside never can. He knows that in a young band his services are practically a labor of love, or as we might say "just for what sport there is in it." During the winter there would be only rehearsals, with perhaps an occasional concert and dance, which might clean up a small profit to be converted into new music or other necessities. In the summer the earning power increases wonderfully, so a new player joining a team should be prepared for the worst. This doleful tale is not to discourage, but to present plain facts without a red fire stage setting.

If you want a band, talk it up and something along that line can be down to open up the finances early.

W. R. C. Notes

Harry Rust, W. R. C. No. 45 held its annual inspection at Woodman Hall Thursday evening, November 2nd. At 7 o'clock, a supper consisting of escalloped oysters, fruit salad, hot rolls, apple and whipped cream pies, cake, doughnuts and coffee were served. Mrs. Clara M. Elliott was chairman. Mrs. Alice B. Jordan, department Junior Vice-President of Brown Corps, Bethel, was escorted under the National colors by conductor Evelyn O. Young, to the President's station, where she inspected the work of the Corps, which she complimented highly. The degrees of the order were conferred on one candidate. The guests of honor for the evening were members of Post No. 54, and several members of George M. Knight Corps of North Waterford, Brown Corps, Bethel, and the 1st Corps, Rochester, N. H., who reside in town. The next regular meeting will be held at Woodman Hall, Thursday evening, November 16th at 7:30 o'clock.

This will be one continuous show.

The Norway High School Fair
The students of Norway High School certainly outdid themselves at their fair in the Grange Hall, Friday afternoon and evening, November 3.

Many students left a hand early in the afternoon and they worked rapidly, forming their school colors, lavender and white, into crepe paper streamers and festoons. Tables were arranged around the hall with a big octagon in the center, all tastefully decorated with the prevailing color scheme.

The sale started promptly at 2:30 with the several committees ready for business and the tables well supplied with articles given by interested persons. An ice cream booth cared for by Leslie Gibson and Roland McCormick, furnished a delicious article in vanilla and chocolate flavors. Beyond was found a table loaded with homemade candies of many kinds for all shades of taste, Doris Longley, Mary Gammon, Eleanor Brown and Marion Sanborn weighed out this commodity. A popcorn table was piled high with corn balls that attracted many pennies from the youngsters, Evelyn Chandler, Olive Stone and June Tracy were in charge. The mystery booth conducted by Doris Brooks and Bessie Pottle was a drawing card, with strange packages carefully wrapped, to stimulate that old inquisitive desire to speculate.

Florence Harriman, Leona Sloan, Gertrude Dutta and Marietta Nichols presided over the apron table that displayed gingham, fancy lawns and percales made up in every known pattern, suitable for the kitchen or for housework more dainty. In the center of the hall was stationed the fancy booth which displayed to advantage pretty articles of neat handwork, including infant bibs and socks, table trays, work bags, all under the care of Virginia Mixer, Frances Bartlett, Elva Perry, Adeline Decoster and Eloise Hunt. An attractive table where guesses were made on the number of seeds in a big yellow pumpkin, the winner to receive the large school pillow done in the school colors, was well cared for by Mildred Noyes and Lila Merrill. Business was rushing in all departments, and nearly every table was sold off clean before the entertainment began.

The supper is of course a big annual feature with the school and largely patronized. The committee Emogene Hunt, Katherine Jones, Ruth Smith, Florence Russell and Bertha Sessions, worked hard on the food problem, but their labor was not in vain. About three hundred and seventy-five partook of this fine repast and have only words of praise for our Norway cooks. Mrs. Lena Anderson had charge of the dining room forces, assisted by Mrs. Percy Nevers as head waitress. Ten tables were set and under the care of Emogene Hunt, Jessie Everett, Ruth Smith, Marion Miller, Elsie Heath, Marietta Nichols, Florence Harriman, Evelyn Drew, Bessie Pottle, Doris Longley, Adeline Decoster, Doris Merrill, Leona Sloan, Nellie Skinner, Florence Russell, Annie Thomas, Evelyn Chandler, Mattie Dudley, Katherine Jones and Thelma Grover. So great was the demand for seats that a large serving table was maneuvered in and the crowd handled with very little delay. Those assisting in this emergency were Mrs. Horace Mixer, Mrs. Fred Hosmer, Mrs. William Jones, Florence Rideout, Edith Knight, Marion Longue, David Klein and John Anderson.

About 8:15 the entertainment opened with Berenice Nash at the piano. The committee Esther Pike and Hugh Bartlett, presented their offering in the form of Lewis E. MacBrayne's society comedy in two acts, entitled "An Engaging Position," with a well selected student cast. "Theodore DeWinks" as portrayed by Hugh Bartlett, Jr., was a young society man of political inclinations but decidedly shy when young ladies were pressing their suit. "James Monastie" as given by Paul Hosmer, proved to be an artist with the brush and a "near artist" as a matrimonial manager. "Thomas Bulmer Told" in the form of Raymond Evis was another match maker, in league with his studio chum, Monastie, he was also a "near artist." "Imogene Tremwell," a far off cousin of De Winks, was represented by Bessie Pottle and was received by the heart of her heart after many complications. "Annette Golde" or Bertha Sessions, was an heiress with pronounced views on the rights of her sex and affiliated with several semi-political associations with many initials. "Marcia Ladner," a graduate of the law school and ready at every occasion to express knowledge, was taken by Esther Pike. Harold A. Anderson coached the players. Ruth Akers with Elizabeth McCroery at the piano and Ruth Smith accompanied by Ruth Akers, finely rendered vocal solos between the acts.

In the guessing contests, Esther Pike carried off the one pound box of fine chocolates, but presented her prize to the school. They were auctioned to Hugh Bartlett, the author, at a profit. Arthur Descoeur guessed the nearest to the number of seeds in the pumpkin and carried away the school pillow. Estimates varied from 87 to over 800, the winning figures being 436 and the actual count was 454 seeds. Altogether the fair was a success and the school realized as a reward for the hard work of the students and generosity of many citizens.

Another Norway Boy Has Made Good in Medicine.
Dr. Stephen P. Jewett of New York City is an aggressive young man of ability and one worth knowing. Although a native son of Waterford, he is the product of the Norway schools having lived for several years in this town with his mother, Mrs. Horace Cole, while acquiring a preliminary education.

After graduating from Norway High in 1909, he continued his studies at Koss Hill for one year, then entered Clark University, graduating in 1905 with high honors and an A. B. degree.

From early childhood his ideals have been for the search of scientific truth. As a youngster he made a collection of nature's mysteries, and the craze grew as his mind expanded. This development continued through college, impressing itself so strongly that a decision was reached which has been a blessing to suffering humanity, also an honor to the family and friends. Following up the desire Stephen entered the New York Medical School, where he just "plugged" to acquire all the knowledge possible during the few brief years of that course. Receiving his M. D. the young doctor entered Flower Hospital for post graduate work in biology and psychology. An advance step was taken when he entered the House Staff, an engagement lasting one year and a half.

Desiring to mould out his professional education in other lines, Dr. Jewett opened an office at Buffalo, N. Y., for general practice, but his stay in that city he was visiting physician to the Lafayette Hospital, was chief of the medical clinic in the Welcome Hall Dispensary and an assistant in the famous Hahnemann Hospital.

In the midst of these successes, Mrs. Jewett died leaving a young son, Stephen P. Jr., (who is living with his grandmother) and a "chip of the old block." Dr. Jewett gave up his home and entered Rivercrest Hospital, New York City as a specialist in psychopathology, with a large private practice in nervous diseases exclusively. His popularity and professional standing can be gauged somewhat by the long list of scientific and research societies to which he belongs. The doctor is active in the New York State Medical Society, the Western New York Medical Society, the Erie and Queens County Medical Society. He belongs to the American Medical and the American Medical Psychological Associations and the president of the Clinical Club, State of New York.

Harry Mann of West Paris, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Emma Mann, returned home, Friday. He is employed in the Mann Clothes Pin factory and was forced to quit work for a short time because of a severe cold contracted a few months ago.

Mrs. D. A. Jordan made the Advertiser a business call, Saturday. She has lived in the village more than thirty years, almost within a stone's throw of our domicile and this is the first visit to headquarters.

Harry Lasselle returned from Great Falls, Montana, Saturday, where he has been visiting his brother, Ralph, since leaving the Mexican border.

The Boston Sunday papers failed to connect with the regular Grand Trunk train and were sent up on a freight. The news boys were on the street until seven filling their orders.

Extensive repairs and a general overhauling has been done in the rent on the corner of Main and Bridge streets over Richardson's market. The walls have been plastered, papered and painted, new two-light windows put in, a flush toilet added and the whole upstairs thoroughly fumigated. Quinn Pratt, Albert Descoeur and Prudence Beards have been doing the work.

The Norway High school dramatic club are to repeat "An Engaging Position" at least in two theaters and possibly more.

Robert Bickford and Mr. and Mrs. L. Clark were in Portland on a business trip recently. Mr. and Mrs. Clark remained several days.

Herbert Holt has been repairing the Beals Tavern roof. Herbert played safe with the help of a rope, one end about his waist and the other securely fastened to the copula. Sam Estes did the metal work about the chimneys.

Knob Bickford was a week-end guest with friends in Stoneham.

The small hand printed cards displayed in the stores announcing the High school fair was the work of the ninth grade scholars as coached by the drawing teacher, Elizabeth McCroery.

Agnes E. Sanborn returned to her school in Newton, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Buck of Norway Lake visited Mr. and Mrs. George F. McAllister at the Falls recently.

Thirty candidates have reported for basket ball practice. A High school team with Peter Klein as captain will be picked from this promising material. Coach Albert Parker has the cubs in charge during the work out period.

Manager G. B. is arranging games. Charles Boober, proprietor of Hillside Farm informs us that he started his milk route November 1st, 1915 with only seven months his business has increased to two hundred and eighteen customers. The day's work commenced at 3 p. m., and continues until 9 p. m.

The four Chapman sisters, Grace, Dorothy, Marie and Baby Bettie, are at Farmington, playing dates in the surrounding towns. November 2nd they presented their vaudeville program in Music Hall, Farmington as a feature with the movies. The company have work booked in New York City, but remain away because of the infantile paralysis epidemic.

The first real touch of winter came Sunday night and Monday morning. Ice formed over the bog above the Falls and the ground frozen hard. Temperature about twelve above zero at 7 a. m. In this section wide lumber is a curiosity, but Horace Cole called our attention to a bunch of shingles, probably the New Brunswick stock, that contained several winter's worth of snow. The shingles were in the same lot were twelve to fifteen inches across and perfectly clear.

Mrs. H. L. Bartlett will entertain the ladies who have been selling tickets for the Eastern Lyceum Bureau Course at her home on Main street, Friday afternoon.

Meetings alternate with the Home and Foreign Societies and letters and literature on both are studied at the meetings. Through the work of the missionary society the apportionment of $150 is paid annually.

Brief remarks were made in the interest of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society by Mrs. R. J. Bruce, the Senior Christian Endeavor Society by Emogene Hunt, the Junior Department of the Sunday School by P. F. Stone and Sunday School by Assistant Superintendent Dr. Arthur W. Boston. This is a Friday So Keep Away
An endless chain letter scheme is going the rounds that is simply a fraud and should be pruned if it comes your way. A Minneapolis firm issued a circular, offering ladies a guaranteed $4.50 per month for ten cents under certain easy conditions. The postoffice authorities have already held up half a million letters containing dimes, so it is useless to forward the small piece of money expecting a beautiful garment as Uncle Sam will surely 'cop' it.

Mrs. Frank D. Briggs has sold her house on Deering street to Alice B. Danforth, now living in Auburn.

Mrs. Homer R. Luck, who was operated upon three weeks ago for appendicitis, enjoyed her first open air walk Sunday.

Scott Merrill's cooper shop on Pleasant street is still doing capacity business. He shipped a carload, 306 barrels, Monday with more to follow.

Mary Collins went to Pittsburg, N. H., to attend the funeral of her brother, Lewis Collins, Sunday.

Hiram Wiles took a header last Friday by the breaking of a rope and on falling on his side against a rock, broke three ribs. He is sorely lame when sneezing and gets about with difficulty. He got to the polls office Tuesday, however.

E. A. Greenleaf and wife have closed their Sugar Island Camps and returned here for the winter. Business was reasonably good with them though not up to the average. Mrs. Greenleaf's health is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ricker, H. Chester Lane, Jr., Mike Carlin all of West Paris and Deputy Sheriff D. A. Cole of Bryant Pond were in town Tuesday.

Fred Moore who works in Portland, was in town with his family over Sunday.

Favorable reports have been received from Albert Canwell and the family expect him home from the Central Maine General Hospital in about ten days.

Dr. Herman L. Bartlett was in Portland Saturday, returning Sunday night.

Mrs. W. Arthur Lewis returned Tuesday from a visit of four weeks with relatives in Lynn, Mass.

The Carroll, Jellerson Shoe Co. are adjusting their factory to meet the coming winter rush. The first change of importance is an enlargement of the cutting room. All of their upper leather is being transferred to the unused section on the same floor, next to Beal street. This is to be the new stock room. The new space gained will be occupied by an additional cutting force soon to be at work.

Mrs. John Shepard, with Clara and Doris Shepard of Auburn, have been visiting Mrs. Elmer Packard. They returned to their home Sunday with Mr. Shepard.

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine—Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Crandon, Wis.—"When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. MAYME ASSACH, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tried easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCASLAND, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine, then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Osgood, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

District Number 6

Hugh Pendexter, our Norway author, wrote and produced in 1907 a rural comedy entitled "District Number 6." This was during the money panic, and hundreds of the theatrical profession were stranded or out of work and living upon their past glory. A professional cast was easily drawn up, and this neat sketch given which attracted favorable comment from play cities. In that company were several stars of the period, many having gone ahead and developed into screen favorites of to-day. Sheldon Lewis and George Spencer, with Marion Abbott, the leading character woman with the famous Gillett, were among the number who are to-day considered top notches. It might not be amiss to note that Hugh, Jr., a youngster of eight, carried out a part in this play and was considered a versatile amateur of promise. So pronounced was his ability to forget an audience and "be the character" that he appeared in several professional matinees, doing super juvenile work in street and other ensemble scenes.

BIG BARN DOOR SKETCHES

Purely Personal and Mostly About Myself and Early Career.

I was at New Hampton four years as a student and "worked my way" to a large extent. My parents assisting all the way. Several terms I boarded myself with the aid of what was sent me from home.

Rev. Moses A. Quimby of Meredith Center had a daughter Alida, attending school and living out of "mother's cupboard" and he did most of the totting of the blue firkins from the home base for both of us.

I got the job of building fires in the Institution Building, also of sweeping floors and care of lamps. These jobs were usually divided up among students who wanted work. I got all three and soon found I had little time for study, if I gave the work proper attention.

A fixed price was set on each job. Building fires was one and one-half cents each; sweeping, $1.00 per week and care of lamps, $5.00 for term of ten weeks.

I sub-let a large part of the work. I recall getting A. T. Stuart, a colored student, to build part of the fires at one cent per day for each fire. I carefully selected for him those rooms which consumed a large amount of wood, on the first, second, third and fourth floors, reserving for myself the smaller rooms.

Sweeping I never did except when the other fellow failed to do it. I looked after it and changed sweepers pretty often. E. M. Knowlton handled it one term and did good work. He was assisted by a cousin, James Knowlton. I had no trouble with these boys, but think I had to pay them just what I received.

Care of lamps was easy and pay good for the amount of time taken. This I attended to personally. I called on the Chapel Bell—room rent and $10.00 a term was the reward. This was some job, commencing at 6:30 a. m. and ending at 9:30 p. m. You didn't have to ring it continuous for that length of time, but had to be on the job about every hour.

At 3:50 p. m. it was rung and seven minutes later tolled for three minutes. The same was done at commencement of study hours in the evening and again at 9:30 p. m. only at this time you must toll it five minutes and quit exactly at 9:30.

The clock and bell rope was in your room. The monkeying with these was a favorite pastime for fun loving boys and many were the jokes and tricks played on the poor bell ringer.

Steve Vittum got disgusted and gave it up and I succeeded him and announced time for New Hampton for many terms thereafter. In fact, I graduated with "the bell rope around my neck and rung out the class of '76—of which I was a member in due shape and in solemn form.

A similar feat, was once accomplished within the memory of those then living, by David _____, who was considered feeble-minded.

Celebrations, fires and school funerals, as well as school walks to "the River," "Pinnacle," "Over Jordan" and other places were announced by the bell. School and town cries were an important position. I filled it and had to live near the bell-rope or have a substitute handy.

Hon. Cyrus H. Little, statesman and prominent lawyer of Manchester, N. H., and late speaker of the General Court, occasionally helped me when I went on a foraging expedition or left town by permission.

In those days Cyrus was a dependable sort of animal and got high marks in scholarship and deportment. This characteristic has followed him in subsequent years.

Steve Vittum of Sandwich, ex-bell-rope-puller, seldom came into my room and I nursed a suspicion that he was jealous of my success in dealing out iron music, on time and in exact quantities.

Steve became an M. D. and practiced in Laconia until passing to the silent majority a few years ago. I recall the painful and ridiculous position in which he was placed by borrowing a white straw hat of Peckshaus John Smith. He failed to return at the stated time and it became current he had made a way with himself or was lost and a search, by permission, was instituted in which all joined.

Vittum had been up "Straights" visiting the parents and brother of a girl he was then courting and was induced to remain longer than he expected when he borrowed the hat.

I tumbled to a great joke on the community and failed to ring the bell at a midnight bonfire. Everybody was alarmed and turned out to see a brush pile burn near the Toll Bridge. Chapel Hall bell was silent, though I was besieged to ring it.

I told an excited trustee who came to No. 9 to ring the bell, thinking I was absent, to let the bell-rope alone and that he could go and see the brush pile burn if he wanted to. I wasn't to ring, neither was the bell to be rung. I had removed the tongue from the bell and was keeping open house for the boys to come in and pull the rope.

The trustee set on the bed and laughed, assuring me he thought Pike's or Bill Dyer's house was on fire. He returned up street by a back route.

Next day "the Old Man" accused me of being in the bonfire scrape because I didn't ring the bell. I told him a good friend put me wise or the bell would have been rung. He asked no questions, smiled and walked along.

After an exciting election, the Republicans winning, I was called on to ring the bell or permit them to do it. I had been expecting this and was prepared to resist with force if necessary. The bell-tongue was then in hiding and the stairway leading to the bell-tower barricaded.

The Republican boys said they had a permit to do it from "the Old Man." I insisted that they get it in writing. This was not done, but time was gained and the democratic force gathered and a fight ensued, but the glad tidings of a republican victory was not heralded over town by iron music at that time. Sore heads and barked faces were numerous for several days.

The bell was rung at the general celebration which occurred later, but the republicans furnished music to pull the rope. I was a silent spectator at the festivities.

I never believed and do not now, that Prof. Meservy gave permission for the ringing of the bell at the time of the fight. Republican as he was he was too wise a man to do it. He made mistakes but not of that kind.

During my janitorship I was the stool-pigeon and got-between in many a love affair and cheerfully passed notes between the two departments whenever requested and the chances of detection not too great.

Ex-Gov. Nahum Batchelder, can bear testimony to this, but I would not set back the hands of the clock and delay ringing the bell even if he did request it.

I was privileged, I could go into any room in the Chapel Building at any time, night or day, and talk with whoever I met. I made the round of the rooms, putting the building to sleep and locked the outside doors about ten o'clock each night.

Many were the sights and adventures. I carried no light and was never molested but once and then I received a staggering and unexpected blow in the face and the assailant ran out of the building. I invented a reasonable excuse for face mutilations and said nothing.

It soon became reported that Prof. Meservy had been knocked down and badly injured while coming from the natural science rooms, the other evening and hadn't been seen on the streets or at the schools for several days. Mr. Meservy had been called out of town for a short time on business and on his return was surprised to learn of his severe injury.

The blow was intended for him, but I got it. I know who did it. He is now living and a good friend of mine, too.

Frank Jones, the Portsmouth brewer, was elected to Congress by the democrats while I was attending school and this was made the occasion of a private celebration by some of the democratic boys in which cod-fish, crackers and cheese was liberally used.

Someone suggested the remnants of the cod-fish, with suitable inscription be hung on the door of the lady principal, who was a pronounced and out spoken republican. Lots were drawn to see who should do it and it fell to Cheney Adams of Monitomboro. It was successfully put through and Adams escaped detection by hiding behind a lilac bush near the Lodge and Will Dow, who had nothing to do in it, was caught and easily convicted on circumstantial evidence.

He was "under probation" at the time and it was going hard with him and democratic boys gathered in council and I was appointed a committee of one to straighten out the affair and set the Faculty right.

I called on "the King" and told all about it, giving names of participants. I received his thanks together with a reprimand, and was told I was old enough "to know better; to be better and to do better."

I mildly suggested that Miss Dow was old enough to know better than talk and teach republican doctrines in the classroom.

I was dismissed from his presence and no further action taken.

(To be Continued.)

"Lost River" in New Hampshire has been discovered by at least 16,500 people this season. This river comes out of Kinsman Notch and crosses the State road near North Woodstock.

With the aid of Farmer R. J. McLean of Plymouth, I became one of the discoverers Wednesday, Oct. 25th. Grandmarm went along too, so did Miss Lena Osgood and father, Charles E. Osgood.

Of course Walter steered the chariot out of the remarkable working of the carburetor. Round trip distance from the Center was 99.5 miles.

Mrs. "Dick" McLean, who is running her husband's campaign for the New Hampshire Legislature didn't go with us. She, having just returned from Boston, had to put the house in shape, feed the chickens and entertain straggling voters who might happen along to inquire of Dick's health and chances of winning.

Wise and faithful woman. This valuable addition to New Hampshire's Wonderland was brought to public attention some few years ago when the enterprising citizens of North Woodstock invited the New Hampshire Weekly Press Association to visit them. They had to walk a mile and a half to get into the hidden recesses of this curious rock pile. Much like the (Grandmarm) and the hardship of getting there outweighed public curiosity, and only a few of the more adventurous visited it.

The Press Association well and wisely blew their trumpets and the next Legislature appropriated sufficient money to build a road to it.

The Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, got hold of it or had, previously. A spacious log cabin was built in their own garden and were furnished with blankets, a kitchen with stove, running water, cement sink with a big fire place in the main building. The public are welcome to its use. No charge is made, but you are expected to pay ten cents each before going through the gorge and viewing its wonders.

A gentlemanly attendant will take the money and as much more as you see fit to give "for the good of the cause" but "no tipping" is allowed. A posted notice so informed me.

E. R. Grinnell of North Woodstock has had charge for the past three years and tells me that "in the season" there are usually a half dozen guides here to show you through and tell the story.

I saved this experience as Dick McLean served the purpose and even paid the admission fee of sixty cents for the privilege of doing it. He is not exactly in his right mind just now as he is running for a political office, so I excused this eccentricity with thanks.

I cannot intelligently describe the wonders. Go see it. It's worth the price. Don't forget to take along with you a flashlight. Overalls and wraps are furnished at the Cabin at a reasonable price for those who desire to go through the Lemon Squeezer, Hauling Machine and all the rock-wrought and water-worn passages. Rubbers are good to wear as they save slipping.

Go see it. It's the greatest curiosity New Hampshire has to offer outside its legislative sessions, which convene once in two years at Concord, which is the largest and wisest law-making body in the world.

I was told E. W. Rolins & Sons of Boston contributed one thousand dollars towards building the Cabin and the balance was raised by subscription.

It is all under the control and management of the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests.

I would suggest that they insist on all visitors registering and giving their permanent postoffice address with street and number, if living in a city. This list could be used by the Secretary of Agriculture in circulating his popular literature regarding the curative qualities of New Hampshire ozone, mountain scenery, abandoned farms, available mill-sites, etc. That's the way to do it. Entertaining and expanding hotel proprietors might want the list. It is worth something. Why not get it as suggested and use it? There is a value in it. Try it.

The Cabin Register, this season, contains the names of many thousand visitors, but lacking permanent postoffice addresses is probably not very valuable for the purpose mentioned. This should be remedied. It can easily be done. Commence next season's register in the right way and see that it is kept so. It's valuable.

Guy S. Davidson, Holderness, N. H., operates a service station for the Ford, Hudson, Dodge and Saxon cars. He employs from 6 to 10 men at the height of the season and has the best equipped garage I've seen in the State.

His stock of Hudson car parts far exceeds what is kept in Portland and he has a better work shop and more tools. He has a specially trained man from the Hudson Motor Car Works of Detroit and is a s. t. b. expert on the Delco Ignition system. You can start 'em with a 28-pound crow bar; pinch the car ahead or back and cogs will mash and then you have it. This I have discovered without the aid of Walter. Patent applied for. It will do it. Remember you must use a 28-pound crow bar and refrain from swearing.

While waiting in this garage for a 25-cent repair job, two Hudson Runabouts were ordered from Cambridge by a wireless as the customer was in such a hurry. More business was done here in four minutes than I have seen in the last seven months. The order for the crank-shaft came by telephone and was sent to Boston with the order for cars and time taken, four minutes. I was waiting to use the telephone and held the watch.

Guy Davidson made a "Snow-Skittle" out of the running gear of a Tin Lizzie and it carried the mail up the Pemigewasset Valley all last winter. That summer paradise is covered, in places, with snow 19 feet deep and not a trip was missed. Its construction was a cross between a logging-sled and a crocodile with let-down-pinion in the rear.

Neighbors know I'm sick and I guess intend keeping me so by the avalanche of nice stuff coming, such as, curd cheese, honey, grapes, pears, gooseberries, preserves, dressed chickens and high-topped apples last week and rode 381 miles.

Oliver Fremstad Married at Bridgton

At noon Saturday, November 4th at his country home on the highlands of Bridgton, Oliver Fremstad, the famous opera singer, a musician, was quietly married.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. T. Livingston, pastor of the Bridgton Congregational Church. There were no guests.

The noted opera star has for the past two or three years lived at Bridgton, where her beautiful camp near Ingalls Grove has attracted much attention. She has entered into the community life by giving her services at the Saco Valley festival, where many people unable to get seats were disappointed in not hearing the great singer.

Recently Mrs. Brainerd has presented to her secretary, Miss Mary Watkins, her camp at Ingalls Grove, as an anniversary gift on the completion of five years of service. This generosity is only one of the many generous deeds that the singer has done and her friends love and appreciate her for her generosity and sympathetic nature. Her marriage comes as a great surprise.

"GELS-IT!" Does the Rest.
Never Fails.

"Really, I never could see how some few people use the most difficult and painful way they can find to get rid of corns. They'll wrap their toes up with bandages into a package that fills their shoes full of feet and makes corns so painful they've got to walk sideways and wrinkle up their faces. Or they use salves that eat right into the toe and make it raw and sore, or they'll use plasters that make the corns bulge, or pick and gouge at their corns and make themselves miserable. Why not use "GELS-IT!" the simple, modern wonder for corns. Just put 3 drops on. It dries instantly. No pain, fuss or trouble.

The corn, callus or wart loosens and comes off. Millions use nothing else."

BRYANT'S POND

The Joys of Automobileing.
In one of our issues of last month, I read an article, supposed to be of a humorous nature evidently written by one of your Townsmen, in which they gave a description of an auto party's troubles, from Rhode Island, who were driving a Paige Car. Your informant in a very facetious manner told of following or as he called it trailing them from Norway to Bryant's Pond, whether in a wheel-barrow or sledge he neglected to state, and delighted in enumerating the troubles of the said party, one of their misadventures was that they had to be pulled out of the mud with a pair of horses—and there had been no rain to my knowledge for three weeks—speaks well for your road commissioner—and that twenty-one people were on the spot to tell them how it should be done, and other similar remarks—funny was it not?

Now here is the answer—The writer has had four auto parties the past summer from southern New England to see him at Bryant's Pond and without any exception they have all been directed by people in your town and at your garages to Bryant's Pond over the worst and most rotten road in the State of Maine,
the so called Rabbit Road via Locke's Mills to Bryant's Pond, where within one mile of your town there is a good smooth highway built by the State with far less mileage.

Are your people afraid that the community at large will not know that your town is located on the map? If so, those who are forward in giving advice and directions to strangers in your midst, are certainly helping out a good cause.

School Entertainment
The "Hallowe'en" entertainment given by the teachers, Miss Fuller and Miss Cole, was a jolly affair and was attended by a crowd. The hall was decorated with evergreen and lighted by many Jack-o'- lanterns, which greeted you with merry, happy faces.

The school children were dressed in costume and wore masks of all kinds of queer faces, and when Miss Cole called the numbers by piano music, many grotesque figures came from the unknown regions and marched to their places in the hall.

An interesting program of singing and reciting was presented by brownies, witches, spooks and goblins, after which the boys of the Potato Club read their essays on "How I Raised My Potatoes."

All were excellent papers and well prepared. Ernest Burhoe was awarded the prize for the best essay, and Leslie Thompson for the best exhibit of potatoes, each a nice book given by Alder River Grange. This was followed by a social hour of music and games, much credit is due Miss Cole and Miss Fuller for a very pleasant evening.

An Aroostook Big Farm.
J. Orin Smith of Presque Isle, formerly of Norway, sent us a marked copy of the Star Herald in which is described the Hoyt & Wheeler farm and a picture of the barn is given.

The barn is 175 feet long, 87 feet wide,
26 foot posts and 17 foot punke posts.
Barn cost $15,000.

The farm contains 478 acres and one field, without rock, stump or gully, has 350 acres.

Hay, potatoes and oats are raised.
This year 300 tons of hay, and 18,000 barrels potatoes, besides the oats. They had 90 acres planted to oats. Hoyt & Wheeler have two potato houses on the railroad with storage capacity of 31,000 barrels.

Mr. Hoyt has another farm on which he raised 27,000 barrels of potatoes this year. They raise almost exclusively seed potatoes of the Irish Cobbler variety and sell them in the Virginia market.
They make farming pay.

We have no such farms in this vicinity.
We have not the kind of land, yet we raise the men who are successfully operating some of these big farms.

THE NEW MUSIC ROOMS

(By Mrs. Z. L. Merchant)

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast."—Congreve.

And Mr. Freeland Howe is doing his best to keep us all in a civilized state.
By playing his music early and late.

Go to his music rooms some day
And all his records, for you, he'll play.
The great Harry Lauder will sing for you
And you'll laugh and cry till he is through;
Enraptured you'll sit on the edge of your chair
While the Peerless Melba is warbling an air;
You must hear Caruso, O that matchless voice!
Then hear Scotti sing and make your choice—
If you buy their records, you'll want many more.

Of singers who are famous the wide world o'er.
Just a few dollars, think how cheap.
And the songs you buy you can always keep.
If you want to New York to hear them sing
The price you'd pay would ransom a king.
A very big sum they would demand
And very likely you'd have to stand.
But right here in Norway, every day,
You can hear them sing and nothing to pay;
For Mr. Howe with courtesy grace
Invites everybody into his place.

I have the usual large and well selected stock of Victor and Columbia Talking Machines and records. Think of the pleasure you can get and give with a phonograph this winter.

Rupert Berry Accidentally Shot.
Rupert Berry, a boy of 15 years, while trying to adjust a sight on a 22-caliber automatic revolver Wednesday at 6:30 p. m., Nov. 1, accidentally shot himself through the abdomen taking a side direction from the center toward the left hip, puncturing one intestine and other linings and tissues in its way. He did not know the revolver was loaded.

He immediately ran across the road to Dr. Staples, who gave him first aid treatment and then telephoned to the G. M. G. Hospital and then accompanied the boy and his father, Will Berry, in L. H. Penley's auto and he was operated on as soon as they arrived at the hospital. The bullet was found in a very much battered condition, one side being entirely flattened though recognizable. The accident and operation was a very serious one, but he has been doing well so far and hope of his recovery is expected now.

New Improvements

The G. T. R. Co. are doing a grand good job in the improvement of their yard, and our village square to enjoy. A sewer from the station to the river was first laid and a catch basin a little nearer than half way to the station. A large oval plot of ground has been laid out and raised up with good mellow loam for a lawn with a good wide driveway around to the station steps and platform, also another lawn in the corner towards the Main street crossing. 60 carloads of cinders have been shipped here and delivered in the road bed, also a lot of leveling off and clearing up of their land beyond the station for a business yard and the unloading of wood and pulp in the winter season.

The station has been newly shingled and is to receive a coat of paint next week. A lattice work is being put along under the edge of the platform. The village people are more than pleased with the improvement.

This work is being taken up in various churches all over the state.

NORWAY LAKE.

The schoolhouse meetings at Norway Lake commenced last Sunday was attended by thirty-eight persons. These meetings will be continued each Sunday evening at 7 o'clock with preaching by John Blair of South Paris.

When you find a farm where the boy owns the calves, colts, pigs and lambs, but the father owns the cows, horses, hogs and sheep, you have found a farm from which a boy is going to the city pretty soon.

WAYSIDE NOTES, SKETCHES, MUSINGS, ETC.

We took a ninety mile ride the first of the week. It was a beautiful day and the sun shown brightly and the wind was so soft and balmy. So were the roads. F. D. Fogg drove the car and the rear wheels were chained on the bridge at Greenwood City. Had to do it on a bridge or wade in mud elsewhere. The rain of the night before and the bright sun made plenty of mud and water for the roads. We had started for Dover and didn't like turning back and losing the good weather.

Prof. W. R. Chapman has a beautiful home as you enter Mayville. At one time it was Moses Mason's farm and later known as the C. G. Ryerson place, where summer visitors were entertained. Prof. Chapman bought it a few years ago and has been changing it over to his liking. The road from the Toll Bridge, where no toll is taken—has been moved to the east, thus enlarging the grounds about the house. Trees planted and a nice lawn makes it look fine.

Another barn has been built rivaling in size the old Moses Mason barn. The Professor owns many acres of fertile meadow land and has a large annual cut of hay and needs big barns. He does farming in a big way and is certainly an agriculturalist in the full sense of the term. He gets good money in his profession and outside adventures and lavishly spends it on his farm and calls it farming.

Prof. Chapman is a farmer and an agriculturalist. The former earns his money on a farm and "blows" it in the city and the latter gets his money from other pursuits than tilling the soil and spends it on a farm, showing what he can do regardless of profit. He sets an example for many other real farmers would like to imitate if they only had the money to spend.

This is exactly where Prof. Wm. R. Chapman is doing on this Bethel farm. He enjoys it. He pays the price and is a good citizen and an accommodating neighbor even if he is the manager and director of the Maine Musical Festival. He is a howling success in that. The Professor has oceans of growing pine on his place and some heavily timbered pine lots, which I'm told is fit to cut, but somehow he don't take kindly to cutting pine and lets it stand to be looked at and admired. He has five miles of road winding through his lands, over them he tries out some of his promising colts of which he has many. He is devoted to good stepping horses and delights in driving and outdoor sports.

The spring on the left side of the road going north, near the big river, has gone dry. Henry H. Hastings, who owns the land where the spring is located and as many passing dogs would roll and wash in it on warm days, he hit of an idea the spring should be covered in. A man was sent to do the job and built a strong cement casing around it with a cover of sheet iron.

In doing this the earth was disturbed and the supply of water turned to other channels and water coming out of the ground for ages ceased to flow and this wayside spring is a memory of the past. The Hastings, Philbrook and others have nice looking farm buildings along the river. Good farm land and prosperous people. At Newry Center there is a store, postoffice and Grange Hall, the latter has been burned since we were there a year ago.

Charles Bartlett's building in Hanover are attractive. Especially so the date in the chimney. We passed so quickly we didn't get a good view and couldn't tell the year.

We recall visiting Mr. Bartlett in the night time some twenty-odd years ago to interest him in an election to be held in Roxbury. The late George Plaisted of Bethel drove the team and safely piloted the sleigh through the snow drifts and we were glad when we reached his comfortable house.

Mr. Bartlett was a big farmer, drover, land owner and a money maker and he had large interests in Roxbury where he did much good for the removal of the county building to South Paris. This was years ago and that struggle is a memorable one. The buildings are now at South Paris and the country is much better conveyed and Mr. Bartlett did his full share in the moving.

Seven miles of Ellis River road—west side was a motor-bed six inches deep. The Hudson car went through all right but was a sorry sight on the wash-stand the next day.

A luncheon was had at Hotel Milton and the village duly inspected. Great changes there since the Andover House burned and A. W. Thomas and wife with Penn. Sessions moved to Norway. French's hotel or Twitshell's is closed and the Andover House lot is occupied by stores.

The Fair Grounds look natural but the fence needs repairing. This is what I took the swift ride with Tom French in a steam propelled wagon of his making. That was years ago when Ed Cummings of Norway was a-courting his wife. They were in the grand stand as points.

Gas was taken at Rumford Point. I noticed the name of J. S. Dutton was painted out on the church and show no more. It's too bad.

Seven minutes took us across the river on the ferry and 15 cents was paid. In the night a bigger charge is made. "Pinhook," the home of Josiah Richardson formerly of Norway, and the Gallisons was passed and car was lit.

We arrived home at 6:15 p. m. and it was Sunday, November 28, 1915. Distance traveled 89.4 miles.

Note—The above was written a year ago but somehow escaped publication until now.—Editor.
